

TINLEY PEOPLE HURT IN CRASH WITH BANDIT CAR

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Brueggemann and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Baldwin of Tinley Park figured in a serious auto accident near Homewood last Tuesday night. They were on their way home after visiting at the Van Wormer home in Homewood and when they reached Crawford Ave., a big car suddenly loomed up in front of them. The car was going south and ran across 183rd street on which the Brueggemann car was going west. Mr. Brueggemann could not stop in the short distance and hit the other car. The impact was terrific and threw the Brueggemann car against a telephone post, wrecking the car as tho a train had hit it.

Mrs. Brueggemann and Mrs. Baldwin were in the rear seat. Mrs. Brueggemann suffered five broken ribs, numerous cuts and bruises and Mrs. Baldwin was also quite badly cut, bruised and shaken up. Mr. Brueggemann sustained injuries to his back. Mr. Baldwin escaped with a slight cut on the head. The injured were taken to the Harvey Ingalls Memorial hospital. Mrs. Brueggemann still is in a quite serious condition.

The south bound car traveled a short distance after being hit and went into the ditch. Several men were seen getting out of car and run across an adjoining corn field. The next day it was learned they were bandits and had stolen the car in Chicago. A sawed off shot gun and several revolvers were found near the car.

New Industry Help To Farmers

The Hinde-Todd Lumber Company, Chicago Heights newest industry, Monday received three car loads of machinery for their artificial lumber plant. The plant is being equipped to manufacture improved insulating board from corn stalks and other farm waste.

Twenty loads of sorghum stalks and hundreds of loads of cornstalks have already been delivered for their use.

Some of the corn fields are badly infested with weeds and foul grass. This growth is gathered and bound with the stalks thus removing much of the seed of these obnoxious plants from the farms.

The farmers of this vicinity are already congratulating themselves because of the establishment of this industry here.

Democrats Hold Rally at Mokena

Democrats carried their campaign into Mokena last Thursday night one of the Republican strongholds of Will County and were greeted by a good sized crowd at the St. Mary hall. Christ Kohl, Democratic precinct committeeman was in charge of the meeting.

Hayes Kennedy, attorney and Mayor George F. Sehring of Joliet were the principal speakers.

Mr. Kennedy spoke on the farm question. He reviewed the efforts made to obtain the passage of the McNary-Haugen bill and cited how on two occasions the bill was vetoed by President Coolidge. He charged that Hoover's farm program was to restrict production, or in other words to drive half of the farmers out of business so the other half could make a living.

"The evaporation of farm property value, mounting indebtedness, the bankruptcy and loss of homes, the widespread commercial failures in the agricultural district stare the Republican candidate for president in the face," Mr. Kennedy said.

"He now asks the farmers to elect him to the presidency on the score of what he will be able to do for them. Hoover has a chance to develop a national policy on agriculture during the seven years he served in the Harding and Coolidge cabinets. He has done nothing in the past and there is no reason to believe that he will.

"Every serious effort directed to help the farmer has met Mr. Hoover's subtle opposition. That is why every farm organization in the country today is opposed to Herbert Hoover.

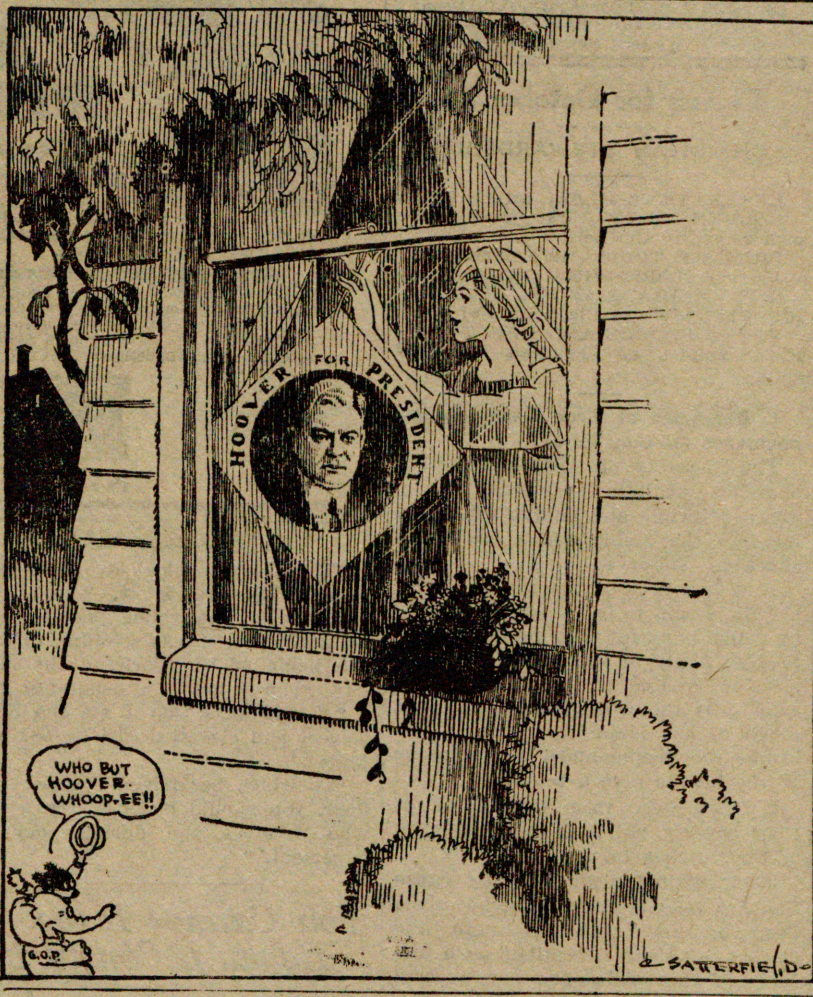

"Mr. Hoover's running mate, Senator Curtis voted to sustain the presidential veto of the McNary-Haugen bill after he had once voted to pass the measure."

Mayor Sehring, speaking in behalf of the state ticket talked on the prohibition question.

He charged the Republican party was dodging the issue on prohibition. "Republicans have been voting dry and drinking wet, that is why we find a disgraceful condition in so far as prohibition enforcement is concerned," Mayor Sehring said.

Flaming Youths Come to Grief at Tinley Park

A number of Chicago's flaming youths came grief in Tinley Park early Wednesday morning when five young shieks were arrested on rather serious charges preferred against them by two girls also from Chicago.

According to the testimony in the court of Judge Walter C. Dohl held in Tinley Park Wednesday afternoon, the girls, Josephine Peterson, 18 years old, 922 West 33rd street, Chicago and Theresa Gregel, 17 of 3314 South Morgan street, Chicago, were going to a restaurant in their neighborhood when a car with five boys in it some of whom they had known for several weeks, drove up to the curb and the boys told them not to eat too much as they wanted to take them for a ride and treat them to a chicken dinner. This was about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. The girls consented. The ride proved a wild one with no chicken dinner. When the boys kept on driving the girls became alarmed.

According to Miss Peterson the boys started making improper advances which she resented. Finally she got the car door open and threatened to jump out. One of the boys said he would get out with her which he did. Miss Peterson saw a car approaching and flagged the driver. By this time the boy got back in the car and they drove to Tinley Park. The girl told the autoist she had stopped what had happened and she also was taken to Tinley Park. This happened about 1:30 o'clock on 147th street near Goessleville.

In the meantime motor cycle policeman George Smith and August Sipple had seen the other car in Tinley Park and were watching it, thinking some holdup men were in town. When Miss Peterson told her story to Officer Smith he started after the car with the flaming youths and the other girl in it. By this time the car was heading north on the concrete road north of Tinley Park. Officer Smith chased after them on his motorcycle at 81 miles per hour and caught them. They were brought back to Tinley Park and placed under arrest and locked up in the village jail. They gave their names as Harry O'Neill, Tony Rocco, Joe Gushin, A. Renale and Frank Sartino. The girls were taken home.

Miss Gregel testified that she was in the rear seat with several of the boys and that they held her arms and feet and attempted to tear her dress. She said the boys became scared when they saw the lights of the other car and let go of her.

After hearing the testimony of the youths, several of whom pleaded guilty to the girls charges, saying they only had sought to scare them. Judge Dohl reprimanded the girls saying they should know better than to go out on night rides with boys they did not know. He pointed out that the papers carry items every day of the terrible price girls pay by taking up with strange men and said he hoped this case would be a lesson to them. Turning to the boys the judge reprimanded them also and pointed out that if a charge of rape could have been proved against them they would have been bound over to the grand jury and might have been sentenced from one year to life on this charge. He told them to let this be a warning to them to watch their step in the future.

The rape charge had at first been considered, but as there was not sufficient evidence to sustain this charge, the charge of disorderly conduct was placed against the defendants and they were fined $5 and costs each on this charge and for speeding. A brother of one of the defendants paid the fines and costs and the flaming youths returned to the city.

Favors Change In Senatorial District

Editor News-Bulletin:
I have heard so much favorable comment on the last letter I wrote you, that I am going to impose on your good nature and write you another. Last March and April while out working for the nomination of my friend, Don C. Hall for state representative, I met many voters who felt that the present system of electing our state representatives did not in some manner supply the need of the people. All the states in the union except New Jersey, and Delaware have three assembly men to each senatorial district, but Illinois is the only state that elects the three state representatives at large. In the other states they are divided in assembly districts. With that law in this state this senatorial district DuPage County would be one district and Will County would have 2 districts.

Will County, if separated from DuPage County would of had a different story to tell in the Republican primary. The DuPage County candidate for state representative hogged all the votes of both counties, and for that reason we did not get the best results. If we had been divided in districts, DuPage county would of had one, Joliet one and the southern part of the county one (continued back page)

Frankfort Man In Auto Smash

While John Waldvogel of Frankfort was driving his truck on a street in Chicago one day last week a Buick sedan going at a terrific speed crashed into him. Two men were in the car, one being killed instantly, the other dying shortly after. The car was a total wreck and the truck was also badly damaged.

Geo. Lauffer Wins Court Case

The case of Mrs. Florence Lauffer, now Mrs. Steele of Mokena, against her former husband, George Lauffer of Blue Island, which has been postponed a number of times, came up for a hearing in the court of Judge Zerbe in Joliet Thursday morning. A change of venue was taken by Attorney A. H. Krusemark, representing Mr. Lauffer and the case was tried in the court of Judge Obsitnik in Joliet. The judge decided the case in favor of Mr. Lauffer and Mrs. Steele was assessed the court costs.

JOLIET MAN KILLED BY AUTO NEAR MOKENA

Robert Stalker, aged 50 years of Joliet who has been in the employ of the Thompson-Powers Construction Company as a cement finisher was struck and instantly killed on the highway in front of the camp a mile east of Mokena Tuesday evening about 6:05 o'clock by a Ford roadster driven by Harold Ebbert.

Mr. Ebbert was returning from work at Frankfort and was heading east toward his home which is about two miles from the scene of the accident. As he was driving by the camp another car approached going west. Mr. Ebbert in switching his dimmers on and off failed to see the man step from behind the west bound machine in his path and his car struck him. The force of the blow fractured the man's skull and it is thought death was instant.

Mr. Ebbert stopped and Dr. E. G. MacMahon of Mokena was called and pronounced the man dead.

Dr. E. A. Kingston, coroner of Will County was notified and the body was removed to the Chamberlain and Slan undertaking rooms at Joliet.

Beside his widow, Mrs. Alice Stalker, Mr. Stalker is survived by four sons, Robert, 20; George, 18; Henry 16; and LeRoy 4 years old. Also his parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stalker of Gardner, Ill., five brothers William of Aurora; James of Marseilles; Alexander of Billings, Montana; John of Joliet; Henry of Gardner; and one sister Mrs. Ella Olroyd of Joliet.

Funeral services were held from the home Friday afternoon. Burial was in the Braceville-Gardner cemetery.

Bid New Lenox Pastor Farewell

A farewell party was held by the congregation of the New Lenox M. E. church in the church parlors Monday night in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Morrison C. Galloway who left Tuesday for Amboy, their new charge. Rev. Mr. Galloway served the New Lenox charge for several years and during his pastorate he did much constructive community work. He did much for the Boy Scouts, Boy Rangers and was instrumental in creating the sentiment which resulted in the building of the fine Boy Scout Cabin on the local camp grounds. Rev. Mr. Galloway also was much interested in the Lions Club starting the movement which resulted in the organization of a Lions Club at New Lenox. He was also instrumental in publishing a weekly church paper, an innovation which had not been attempted before by any preceding pastor. The little paper went over big. Advertising from local and Joliet business men paid for the printing of same.

S. W. Highway Work Progresses

Work on grading for the Southwest Highway spur to connect with 143rd street in Orland Park, is going steadily on. The big steam shovel of the James O'Keefe Construction Company of Chicago Ridge is cutting down the big hill north of Orland Park at a rapid rate. The earth which is being excavated is being used on a big fill further north. A string of big concrete sewer pipe are being laid along 143rd street on the right hand side of the highway going west.

Wolf Road has not been entirely thown open for travel yet as 143rd street west of Orland connecting the Wolf Road is not open for traffic. Earth shoulders are being placed on both sides of Wolf Road from the Cook and Will County line to 143rd street.

Route 51 Case at Frankfort Settled

The long delay in getting the right of way on Route 51 southwest of the village of Frankfort, has at last been settled. Final settlement has been made with Folker Brothers for seven acres at $500 per acre or a total of $3500. Settlement has also been made with Philip Stellwagon for 3 acres at $2000.

Work on grading for the roadbed is in progress now. Route 51 after crossing the Lincoln Highway north of Frankfort swings to the southwest, passes under the Michigan Central at a point near the Folker Brothers slaughter house, thence runs south to the E. J. & E., and connects there with the pavement already laid from Andres north. By this routing route 51 misses the village of Frankfort entirely.

FAVOR VELVET-TRIMMED FROCK; LATEST IN FORMAL NEGLIGEE

NOT a niche of fashion's realm where velvet has not found its way! Especially does velvet feature in the style picture in a trimming way, on frocks of crepe, satin, woolen and the like.

The story of the lovely gowns which are velvet-trimmed is an endless and fascinating one. It makes it the more interesting in that, for the most part, the velvet is exactly matched to the color of the material it trims. Wine-colored velvet on wine-colored crepe, a jungle green satin frock trimmed in velvet, thus do styles accent a new Tiers of circular ruffles are also a favorite method of carrying out the theme of the velvet trim. These reach to above the knees, and there are trimmings of the velvet on the upper part of the frock to correspond.

A dull crepe frock which gives place to velvet hand-made flowers as a shoulder trim and at the hipline, with a discreet use of velvet in narrow band trimmings, presents still another phase of the velvet-trim theme.

We are constantly being reminded of the trend of the mode toward the more feminine. It is only natural that sentiment for the flattering and the lovely in woman's apparel should find its happiest expression within the environment of the home. So it is that the exquisitely feminine teagown together with other equally as charming negligee fantasies are once more with us.

For these garments of grace and beauty designers are employing most luxurious satins, transparent velvets, metal weaves and other fabrics of like elegance. Seeing that there is nothing so prettily feminine as lace, one feels no surprise that it is called upon to generously lend its enchantment to the more formal negligee modes.

In interworking lace into the scheme of things, interest is often focused on train and sleeve treatments for the formal types. For the model of shimmering satin here pictured, the designer uses an all-over patterned lace, achieving a circular flared hemline, repeating the movement in the flowing border on the sleeves. This is really a very conservative styling in comparison to the modes which sometimes feature wing-like sleeves with exceedingly long trailing effects.

Many lovely velvet negligees feature a hand-painted patterning. A very simple method is to stamp the design on the velvet. Then outline this with bronze, gold or silver paint, tinting the inner spaces with the desired color. Not only is the fabric elaborated with hand-painted birds, flowers and butterflies, but even the lace which trims the garment is "touched up" with tones and tints in perfect blend with the general color scheme. Paints and dyes are now available which are said to withstand laundering and cleaning processes, and it pays to use only such.

A Formal Negligee.

This involves expert needlework. Fancy a frock in which canton crepe and sheer velvet unite on a fifty-fifty basis, in that the upper part of the gown is of the crepe, to which is attached at a low waistline a circular skirt of the velvet. An inset of velvet flowers and leaves follows a diagonal course across the crepe blouse portion. A simple wide streamer of the velvet attached to one side of the round neckline and thrown over the left shoulder adds the final style touch.

To the woman who loves to wear beautiful apparel in her boudoir and about the home, if she sews and is an artist with the brush, there is every inspiration in modern negligee fashions for her to apply her time and talent at a great saving of money for garments hand designed are an expensive luxury when purchased from the better specialty shops.

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

LESSON TEXT—II Cor. 8:1-15; 9:6, 7. GOLDEN TEXT—First gave their own selves to the Lord.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Glad Giving. JUNIOR TOPIC—Glad Giving. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Is God's Claim on Us? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Principles of Christian Stewardship.

I. Examples of True Christian Benevolence (II Cor. 8:1-5).

The liberality of these Macedonian churches exhibits practically every grand principle and motive which enter into the giving which has God's sanction. Observe:

1. The source of true giving (v. 1). This is said to be the grace of God, by which is meant that the disposition to give freely of our means is a disposition created by the Holy Spirit. This puts the Christian giving on a much higher plane than that which brings the people under the bondage of the law to give a tenth.

2. They gave from the depths of their poverty, not from the abundance of their riches (v. 2).

Their limited means did not cause them to restrict their gifts, but their deep poverty "abounded unto the riches of their liberality." On the basis of this philosophy our poverty ought to be a call for greater generosity, for God has promised that if we give liberally He will give liberally in return.

3. Their willingness surpassed their ability (v. 3).

God's gifts are reckoned by the degree of willingness, not by the amount given (II Cor. 8:12; 9:7).

If such grace were to come upon the churches today, there would be an abundance of funds to carry on the Lord's work.

4. They were insistent on being allowed the privilege of giving (v. 4).

They did not need to be pressed into giving. How far we have departed from the apostolic method. Today we employ the shrewdest men in financial affairs that can be found to make appeals at our missionary meetings and the dedication of our churches.

5. They first gave themselves to the Lord (v. 5).

This is most fundamental to right giving, for when one gives himself to the Lord there is no reason for withholding his gifts. If one does not give himself to the Lord there will be the desire to retain as much for self as can be done within the bounds of respectability. The only right method of raising money for the Lord is first to induce men and women to give their lives to the Lord and then to give of their possessions.

II. Emulation of Macedonian Benevolence Urged (II Cor. 8:3-15).

Moved by the generosity of the Macedonian churches, Paul desired Titus to commend to the Corinthians the same grace. This grace he urged upon them, giving:

1. Not as a command (v. 8). It must be spontaneous—liberal.

2. As a proof of the sincerity of their love (v. 8). Love is more than mere sentiment; it is benevolent action toward the object loved.

3. As the completion and harmony of Christian character (v. 7).

The Corinthian church abounded in spiritual gifts such as faith, utterance, knowledge, diligence, and in love for their ministers. But the grace of liberality was needful for the harmony of their lives.

4. The self-sacrificing example of Christ (v. 9). Self-sacrifice is the test of love.

5. Because the true principles upon which gifts are acceptable with God is a willing mind (vv. 10-12). God does not estimate the value of a gift on the ground of its intrinsic worth, but the underlying motive of the giver.

6. Because of a common equality (vv. 13-15). Every Christian should give something. The law governing the gift is ability.

III. Encouragement to Give (II Cor. 9:6, 7).

1. The volume of reaping is based upon the sowing (v. 6). Those who sow sparingly cannot expect to reap bountifully.

2. There should be a heart purpose (v. 7). This calls for intelligence as to the object of giving.

3. Giving should not be of necessity (v. 7). No particular value accrues to the giver who gives through pressure.

4. God loves a cheerful giver (v. 7). The one who has the right understanding of his responsibility toward God with reference to temporal possessions will regard giving as a glorious privilege.

"This is a cynical age," declared George Bernard Shaw, "and it all comes from the young people knowing too much. I was strolling through the lobby of the Carleton the other day when I heard a debutante say: 'Erwin says that I am the handsomest and cleverest girl he has ever known.'"

To which her friend replied: 'My dear, you should never marry a man who deceives you during your engagement.'

You Cannot Have Health If Constipated

"I am writing you in regard to Milks Emulsion. About two years ago I became constipated and suffered with piles. I tried all kinds of advertised medicines and didn't get any results. I would have to take a cathartic every night. I fell off in weight from 185 to 165 pounds. I got so skinny I didn't look like myself."

"A friend advised me to try Milks Emulsion. After taking one or two bottles it did me so much good I wrote you for advice in the treatment of my case. I followed the instructions you gave me and used twelve bottles of Milks Emulsion and I am now in perfect health. I have gained 25 pounds. I recommend Milks Emulsion to every sufferer of constipation."

"I want to thank you for your advice." Yours truly, W. L. JONES, Greensboro, Ala., R. F. D. No. 5, Box 84.

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

The Worst Yet

Sacha Guitry, the French playwright and actor, hates the movies, and on his American visit he said one day to a critic in New York:

"The movies have done the legitimate drama a lot of harm, but last night I heard the worst thing yet."

"Yes," said the critic.
"Yes," said M. Guitry. "I met at a supper party last night a movie star who kept calling the drama the speakies."

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Six party tickets will be printed on the official Illinois ballot for the general election on November 6. The number was announced a few days ago by Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson when the time limit for filing of independent petitions expired. The tickets to be placed on the ballot are the Republican, Democrat, Independent Republican, Socialist, Labor, Socialist and Workers (Communist) Party of America. The Prohibition party did not file a ticket. It is probable that the state ballot will be certified to county clerks of the state by the secretary of state on October 17. The official ballot will be much smaller this year because of the passage of a law providing that the names of the 29 Presidential electors were not to be carried. The names of candidates of the respective parties for President and Vice President will head the ticket. The width of the ballot also will be reduced because parties which have filed in former years did not present petitions.

Illustrated books on the trees and wild flowers of Illinois are being prepared by the state department of registration and education for use in public libraries, high schools, normal schools, and colleges. It was announced recently, by Dr. Stephen A. Forbes, chief of the state natural history survey. The new books are the first of a series planned by Doctor Forbes to make available to schools the scientific information that has accumulated in the records of the state natural history survey during the fifty-two years of his active work on the natural life of Illinois. The one on trees, a book of 325 pages, including 124 full-page photographs of the different species, besides maps to show in what counties each species has been found, and keys to aid in the identifying of specimens, was written by R. B. Miller, now chief forester of the state department of conservation, and L. R. Tehon, botanist of the state natural history survey. This book is now in press and will be ready for distribution in December, Doctor Forbes said. The wild flower handbook, intended as a guide to the study of the common flowering plants that grow in Illinois, will contain descriptions and drawings of more than 340 species. Specimens have been collected in all parts of the state, and drawings of 300 species have been finished. This work is being done by Dr. W. B. McDougall and Miss Charlotte Liebtog, both of the department of botany in the University of Illinois.

Ox-warble, cattle warble, or in barnyard parlance, "Wolf-in-the-back," is to be investigated with the object of finding some practical preventive, according to plans outlined in the office of the director of agriculture recently. Representatives of the federal bureau of animal industry, with full co-operation of the state department of agriculture, will carry on experiments in Knox county. A similar investigation is to be carried on in Colorado.

Adj.-Gen. Carlos E. Black will hold examinations in Springfield and Chicago on November 8-10 for Illinois guardsmen applying for admission to West Point. Applications for the examination must reach the office of the adjutant general before October 31. Any guardsman is eligible for the examination if he enlisted before July 1, last, is between nineteen and twenty-two years old and more than five feet four inches tall.

As the growing season advances, nursery inspectors in the service of the state department of agriculture are well along with their investigations for the control of plant diseases. In September, they took on the inspection of 40 nurseries, and conducted the season's second inspection of 78 others, covering in all, 1,190 acres of nursery area.

Construction of an addition to the state centennial building which will cost approximately $750,000 will be provided for in a bill to be offered to the next session of the Illinois general assembly. The addition adjoining the memorial building will be used for offices to relieve the present congested condition of departments now located in the capitol building. The bill was passed by the legislature four years ago. After plans and specifications had been considered the project was laid aside because of a shortage of state funds and the amount was not reapportioned. Senator Earl B. Searcy, who fathered the old bill, is expected to introduce the new measure which is expected to meet with the approval of assemblymen from downstate.

The following contracts for roads, bridges and grading were awarded a few days ago by the state division of highways.

Paving—Route 48, section 121, Dewitt-McLean counties, Wabash Construction Co., Vincennes, Ind., $141,737.48.

Route 13, section 28-S, St. Clair county, H. H. Hall, East St. Louis, $23,468.00.

Route 108, sections 102-W and 103-W, Greene county, McElwee and Roby, Peoria, $3,330.03 and $9,511.51 respectively.

The curtain of time was lifted on the memories of a little group of people on Knox college campus at Galesburg a few days ago and a scene of seven decades ago lived again. The gaunt attorney, Abraham Lincoln, and Stephen A. Douglas, little giant, came back to enact before a Twentieth century throng the drama of seventy years ago. The occasion was a tableau re-enacted by Attorney Al Pierson as the orator Douglas, and Frank McGlynn, famed impersonator of Lincoln, in old Main hall at Knox college. The afternoon shadows that slanted across the old hall, the last relic of that other day, fell upon a group of survivors who had been a part of the audience October 7, 1858, when the fifth of the Lincoln-Douglas debates was delivered, and upon another group seated on a platform before the high Gothic portals of "Old Main"—the biographers and students of President Lincoln. Each in his turn spoke his estimate of the historic drama and retold some bit of lore.

Another hitherto unrecorded species has been added to the list of native Illinois trees by R. B. Miller, chief state forester of the state department of conservation. On a trip into southern Illinois wooded lands, from which Mr. Miller has just returned, he confirmed the discovery of the new tree, the yellow wood or gopher wood. The species will be included in the third edition of the book, "Trees of Illinois," shortly to come from the press.

The state division of highways has awarded the contract for paving on Route 78, in Morgan and Cass counties, extending between Jacksonville and Virginia, to Cameron, Joyce & Co., Keokuk, Iowa. The price was $140,826.23.

Other contracts awarded were:

Route 169, section 114, Shelby county, pavement; J. C. O'Connor & Sons, Fort Wayne, Ind., $108,013.52.

Route 51, section 102-A, Cook county, grading; to Bingham-Rung Co., $23,020.

Route 165, section 126-C, McLean county, bridge; to Continental Bridge Co., Chicago, $14,710.

Route 105, section 126-B, McLean county, bridge; to Herrick Construction Co., Carlinville, $9,390.35.

Food found unfit for human use, through the collection and analysis of suspected samples by the pure food forces of the state department of agriculture, is condemned and destroyed. In September, 14,075 pounds of various food commodities were scrapped as the result of laboratory tests. The food chemists passed upon 586 samples during the month, and turned thumbs down on 174 out of the lot.

The dairy husbandry division of the state department of agriculture, representing the growing dairy industry of Illinois, was represented at the National Dairy Exposition at Memphis recently. A few days ago the division presented an exhibit at Waterloo, Iowa, in conjunction with the National Dairy congress, an annual gathering of the dairy trades.

"Egypt" leads the cornbelt by a margin of one egg in the race for egg-production supremacy in the close competition between individual hens of heavy breeds on test at the experimental stations the Illinois department of agriculture conducts. A Rhode Island white hen, bred and owned by O. H. Green, DuQuoin, has marked up 238 eggs in eleven months and stands first among all the hens of the American, Asiatic and English breeds entered in the projects under way at Quincy, Kankakee and Murphysboro. A Barred Plymouth Rock, owned by Eli Broughton, Lincoln, is second with 237.

September inspection of cream buying stations resulted in 11 out of 97 being pronounced illegal. This check of milk production buying operations is increasing, according to the reports the director of agriculture, Stillman J. Standard, receives from the division superintendent, Walter R. Kimzey. In September last year, 56 such stations were investigated, and one out of eight was found illegal.

Apple shipments in September, moving to the markets of the world by rail, with shipping point inspection and certificates of grade and quality, furnished by representatives of the Illinois department of agriculture, totaled 123 cars—a third more than in the corresponding month last year.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has given an opinion to State's Attorney Frank Allen, Jefferson county, in which he holds that fees, fines and forfeitures collected after July 1 become a part of a special fund for the coming year and cannot be credited to any deficit that existed prior to that time. The state's attorney asked if the money he collected after July 1 could be credited to a deficit in his salary.

Applications coming in to the poultry husbandry division of the Illinois department of agriculture for participation in the egg laying contest to commence November 1 will exceed the combined capacity of the three experimental projects the department operates at Quincy, Kankakee and Murphysboro. A. D. Smith, chief poultryman, Bellevue, Mailing entry blanks, Smith also sends a helpful treatise, telling how to select the most promising layers, and gives instructions as to their preparation and shipment.

Republican Party
One of Achievement

Pointing out that the Republican party always has been a party of achievement in Illinois, Louis L. Emmerson, Republican nominee for Governor, made a strong plea in Rockford for the election of the entire Republican ticket.

"Ever since the Civil War," he said, "the control of the government affairs of Illinois has been in the hands of the Republican party, with two exceptions and two alone. The last was in 1912, when we quarrelled among ourselves and awakened the day after the election to find a Democratic governor and Democratic state officials had been elected to take charge of the government at Springfield.

"The reason the Republican party has been in control almost three quarters of a century is not merely because it is called the Republican party or because you or I are members of it. It is due to the fact that the party has remained close to the people and when it has made a promise it has kept that promise.

"Under its leadership has been enacted all of the important legislation of recent years. All our advanced laws in the interest of industry of labor, of agriculture, of financial institutions and of great economic enterprises have been adopted by Republican legislatures and approved by Republican Governors."

"You will find in looking back over the past two or three decades, you need not go farther back - that practically all of the great public works and governmental achievements have been conceived and carried out by Republican administrations. Our waterway system, begun under Governor Deneen with the enactment of a constitutional amendment providing $20,000,000 bond issue. During the four years following Governor Deneen's administration almost nothing was accomplished in waterway construction. In 1917, when Governor Lowden became chief executive of the State, he reorganized this work, secured the approval of plans by the war department and hastened construction. Under Governor Small waterway work has been pushed rapidly and two years from now, my friends, whistles from New Orleans, Memphis and Natchez will be heard at the wharves and docks along this waterway and at its terminus in Chicago."

"Cheaper freight will be provided for farm produce and for the manufactured products of Illinois Markets will be opened to our industries, which now are closed to exorbitant freight charges."

"Our great highway system was begun back in 1917 under the administration of Governor Lowden. The plan was formulated which has made possible the paving of 6,000 miles of highway and has prepared the way for the greatest hard roads system in this country. The enabling legislation was passed by a Republican legislature, the bonds were voted and construction was begun."

"This work has been pushed vigorously during the eight years of Governor Small's administration. No state has built as many miles of highway in so short a time."

"The Republican Party is pledged not only to complete the bond issue system and to pave main arteries as rapidly as money is provided but to go farther than that. When I announced my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor at Mt. Vernon on November 10 last, I promised to urge the legislature to work out some plan by which the secondary roads, the highways entering the little hamlets and villages not now reached by pavement, can be surfaced so that the benefits of hard roads may be extended to thousands of men and women not now residing on the main arteries."

"The Republican administration is responsible for the best code of humanitarian laws for the protection and welfare of labor to be found in any state."

"Republican administration deserves credit also for the great system of charitable and educational institutions which are second to none."

"And so I might go on and enumerate the achievements of the Republican Party for the people during more than two generations."

"The Democratic Party makes you promises. They are but a repetition of the pledges already made by the Republican Party and myself. But there is no record in Democratic history in Illinois to indicate that Democratic administration would fulfill any of its promises if it were entrusted with the State government."

"Back of Republican pledges are more than 70 years of achievement."

SMART DAYTIME FROCKS

Perfectly straight and simple is the little juvenile model illustrated above, and yet by a clever manipulation of the collar it achieves real style distinction. As sketched it is made of crepe de Chine; but of course its uncomplicated styling makes it suited to almost any other fabric. For school, jersey is admirable, while for dress, velvet with lace is chic.

Delightful for general daytime wear is the little blouse frock of printed crepe de Chine. The yoke band buttons over the bow-ends in a manner both original and smart, while the skirt through shirrings on the center-front boasts a modish flare. It may be shirred all across the front if preferred. Printed challis, crepe satin, or georgette make up attractively too.

First Model: Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4532. Sizes 6 to 14 years, 35 cents.

Second Model: Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4536. Blouse in sizes 34 to 48 bust, 35 cents. No. 4152—Skirt in sizes 34 to 44 bust and 14 to 18 years, 35 cents.

Annual Cermak

Golf Reward Made

The annual reward of Anton J. Cermak, democratic candidate for United States senator from Illinois, to Chicago's "golfingest copper," the A. J. Cermak Trophy, was won this year by William H. Roemisch, motorcycle policeman assigned to the eighth district.

To Roemisch went the trophy, a valuable silver cup and title as champion golfer of the Chicago police department when he turned in a card of 82 for the eighteen hole course at Antioch, Ill., where the rounds were held.

Keen interest in the play was manifested by the police golfers and the competition this year was especially a spirited in the fight for the cup which first turned interest of the policemen to the links when Mr. Cermak inaugurated the tournament some years ago.

The cup is the property of the station whose representative wins it, for a year, and becomes their trophy permanently in the event that he wins it three times in succession. The chances of Roemisch performing this feat are said to be excellent.

Mr. Cermak's interest in the welfare of policemen was apparent soon after his entrance into public life 26 years ago. In the various legislative and executive offices he has held since then, it has influenced his every action.

Dairymen Meet

Nearly five hundred dairymen, from all sections of the Chicago dairy district, met in Chicago on October 10, and pledged their unanimous support to any action necessary to bring about cooperative selling of milk to Chicago buyers and a careful supervision of weights and tests.

Mr. H. D. Allebach, President and Manager of the Tri State Milk Producers' Association of Philadelphia, who addressed the gathering, said that it was the most enthusiastic meeting of dairymen that he had ever attended and that their unanimous support of the Association program would surely bring success.

Referring to a strike, Mr. Allebach said, "Strike if you must but I do not think it will be necessary. Your program is so fair and so fundamentally sound that public opinion will force dealers to yield."

A Ways and Means Committee, composed of the following producers: Messrs. Claude DeHahn, Ben Gillmore, Robert Pace, Peter Goehl, C. H. Hirsch, L. D. Oranger and C. W. Wray, was appointed to work with the board of directors and decide the definite steps to be taken immediately by the organization. It is reported that this committee will recommend that dairymen, through their organization, set a definite price upon their milk and deliver it to dealers doors. It is pointed out by officials, that a committee of consumers may ask for arbitration rather than allow Chicago's milk supply to become demoralized.

The Ways and Means Committee, together with the board of directors and an advisory committee from the Illinois Agriculture Association, the Indiana Farm Bureau and the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, met on Thursday the 18th to formulate plans for action to be taken in this great fight of organized dairymen for recognition upon their market.

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

Wherever you live, you will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

JOHN W. JARANOWSKI
Republican Candidate for
RECORDER OF DEEDS
ELECTION
Tuesday November 6th, 1928.
polls open from
6 A. M. to 4 P. M.

A business man for a business office has been the slogan of many a political campaign, but in the case of John W. Jaranowski, it is more than a slogan. It is an accomplished fact. He has risen from the ranks, earning his bread by the toil of his hands and by the sweat of his brow, to be an employer of as high as 8,000 men and women at one time.

Those thousands of men and women who owe their livelihood to him can testify that success has not turned his head, but he has remained the personal friend of each, just as each one of them has a strong personal friendship for him.

His experience in business life has given him mature judgement, and his success has been due to that ripe experience, to his unquestioning integrity, his real ability, and to his tried and proved efficiency.

He has not needed and does not need public office for his own personal gain. The only public offices that he has ever held, those of Highway Commissioner, Mayor of Calumet City, and County Commissioner, have been filled by him with the sole view of service for his community. How well he has succeeded is shown by the love and respect that the people of his community bear him.

The office of Recorder of Deeds is paying to the people of Cook County a profit in earned fees of over $400,000 a year. The people of Cook County cannot afford to change their profit into a liability and increase their taxes.

This annual profit means a decrease of general taxes.

A decrease in taxes means lower rents.

Vote for John W. Jaranowski, Republican Candidate for Recorder of Deeds, and insure yourselves that decrease in taxes and rents.

Will County
S. S. Convention

The annual convention of the Will County Council of Religious Education will be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Joliet on Sunday, October 21. There will be two sessions - the afternoon beginning at 2:15 o'clock and the evening at 7:30. The music for the afternoon session will be in charge of the rural churches, while the Joliet churches will furnish the music in the evening. The united choirs of the DuPage Presbyterian and the Wheatland Evangelical churches, two of the county's largest rural churches, will sing in the afternoon. There will also be a roll call of townships. Each township will respond either with a song, scriptural passage or a stunt of religious educational value. There will be four divisional conferences held in the afternoon - children's division, young people's, adult, and school officers. In the school officers division the subject of "School Standards - the 100 percent test" will be discussed, and every superintendent and assistant superintendent in the county should aim to be present to get the help and inspiration that this conference is sure to give.

Will county is very fortunate to secure Mrs. Mary F. Bryner of Peoria as the convention speaker. She will speak at both sessions. Mrs. Bryner has had twenty years experience as a worker in the International Council of Religious Education, is a very talented speaker and will have a vital message for all. At 6 o'clock in the evening a fellowship supper will be served in the First Presbyterian Church at a nominal price. The goal is 150. To enable the ladies of the church serving the supper to know how many to prepare for, a request is made for any wishing to attend the supper to send in their intentions not later than Oct. 18, to H. F. Ostbot, Joliet, Illinois. While the county officers are not making this request, yet they would greatly appreciate the spirit of the occasion if as many of the churches throughout the county find it possible to do so would omit their evening service on the day of the convention so as to permit a greater number to remain for the closing session than would otherwise.

Each school is urged to send delegates, as many as they want, as there is no limit to the number.

There will be a roll call by the schools. It is desired that this convention be the best that Will County has seen in a long while. In order to accomplish this, support, co-operation and good will of every school in the county is sought.

Remember the date, Sunday Oct. 21, in the First Presbyterian church, Joliet afternoon and evening.

It has been some time since Will County has had such a convention and it is sure to be a big help to each one attending.

MARLEY

The Marley Household Science Club will sponsor a Good Citizenship meeting at the Marley church, Friday, October 19th, at 7:30 p. m. Come and hear Mrs. Lottie H. O'Neil and W. D. Heise. Also a good musical program. Social hour and refreshments in recreation room following the program. Everybody come. No charges.

The Maple street Arbor of Ancient Gleaners will sponsor a community dance in the Uch Hall in New Lenox Saturday evening, Oct. 20. Everybody is invited to attend. The Woman's Missionary Society of the Marley church will hold their regular monthly meeting Wednesday, October 24 at the John Handorf, Sr., home in Marley. Hostesses will be Mrs. Charles W. Lauffer, Mrs. G. Willard Bush, Mrs. Charles W. Lahmann and Miss Minnie Handorf. This will be the first all day session for this season, and dinner will be served at noon. A program will be rendered at 2 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Services at the Marley Community church Sunday will be as follows: Sunday school at 10 a. m., morning worship service at 11 a. m. There will be no evening services on account of the Will County Sunday School convention to be held in the First Presbyterian church in Joliet, Sunday afternoon and evening.

A special invitation is extended to all women to attend a political tea to be held at the Chamber of Commerce in Joliet October 27. Prominent women speakers will be present.

John Handorf, Sr., and daughter Miss Minnie called at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Claussen in Palos Park and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elliott in Summit Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Duser left last week on a motor trip to Iowa where they will spend a few weeks visiting relatives and friends. Mrs. Minnie Sals of Oak Lawn visited at the home of her niece, Mrs. Charles Lauffer last week.

ORLAND PARK

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Raney have returned from a visit with relatives at Decatur and Litchfield, Ill.

The Public Service Company digging machine for digging trenches for gas mains has arrived and will be placed in operation this week and the laying of gas mains and pipe lines into residences will be started soon. Over 40 patrons have signed up for gas service. Installation of gas is another big step ahead in the progress which Orland Park is making from year to year.

Tests of the concrete used on route 51 have been made the past week by drilling a small hole in each slab of concrete and using the borings for an analysis.

Christal Koehler is going to build a new residence east of town on 143rd street. Excavation work on the basement has been begun.

Lincoln McCauly is building a new home in Palos Park.

Dr. W. R. Schussler is preparing for his annual duck hunt. He has had a new boat built and everything is set to start out on the hunting trip.

Mrs. Peter Cure who has been ill is improving nicely.

The Ladies Aid of the Christ Lutheran church are making preparations for their annual chicken supper and bazaar to be held Nov. 8th in the Lutheran school.

Mrs. Paul Sanders has gone to Madison, Wis., to visit with relatives.

Rev. Paul T. Sanders is to speak before the Palos Park Woman's Club on P. T. A., work this week.

Repairs are about to be made on the M. E. church steeple.

J. H. Schmadeke and family moved to Janesville, Wis., Sunday where they visited with the Owen Wagner family.

ORLAND PARK SCHOOL

The Zoology class have made several field trips and gathered specimens of butterflies, frogs, bugs, beetles, grasshoppers and coconuts for future study. The girls are making dissecting cases while the boys are making the dissecting needles.

Miss Smith is getting a course in music started in all departments of the school. Music is a new course in the Orland school which every child will enjoy. At present the high school is working on an opera that will be presented sometime before Thanksgiving. Another feature of the music course is the Toy Orchestra in the primary room.

In order to make the course in music possible Mrs. Campbell, Miss Schmadeke and Miss Snyder the grade teachers, exchange work with Miss Smith during the music period.

Athletics is just coming into prominence in the Orland school. We are arranging a time to work and a time to play.

The high school has increased in numbers from twenty-four to thirty-one. Several transfers have been made during the past few weeks. This brings our quota higher than our anticipation. Nevertheless there is always room for one more.

Mrs. Campbell is getting the Achievement Club revived for the season. The names of the officers have been sent into the County Superintendent, E. J. Tobin. The names are as follows: Pres. Velma Reich, Vice-pres., Mary Jane Holton, Sec., Harold Kinney, Treas., Helen Ludwig.

A Boys Patrol will be organized soon for the purpose of promoting safety to boys and girls going to and from school. This organization is sponsored by the assistance of the Chicago Motor Club.

At a class meeting last Monday A. M. the Freshmen elected the following class officers: Pres. Alvin Uthee; Vice-Pres., Dorothy Hughes; Secretary, James Franks; Treas., NoDene Hutchinson. The Sophomores elected the following officers: President, Lylos Kay; Vice-pres., Robert Wagner; Secretary Ruth Ludwig; Treasurer, Margaret Bishop.

Last week when the water was shut off we took advantage of Mrs. Steffen's hospitality. We wish to express a vote of thanks to Mrs. Steffen for the many drinks of good water from her well.

Glen T. Beaty, Pastor
Church School 10:30 A. M.
Evening Worship 7:00 P. M.
Mr. Beaty will preach on "Spiritual Heroes" at the evening service next Sunday evening. You will enjoy our evening services. Come and worship with us.

The church piano was recently tuned by Mr. Green of Joliet. Mrs. Wm. Lathrop is adding much to our services with her fine music.

The Ladies Aid Society will greet every reader of this note with happiness at their Annual Bazaar next Thursday afternoon and evening. Many things will be on sale, and a glorious dinner will be served in the evening. We will appreciate your patronage.

Next Sunday at the First Presbyterian church in Joliet, the Will County Sunday School Convention will be held. There are interesting programs arranged for 2:15 in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening, with a Fellowship Supper served at 6 o'clock. It would be helpful to every Sunday School teacher and all others interested to be there.

Sunday Evening, October 28th, Mr. Beaty is to bring a sermon based upon the great religious play and story "The Passing of the Third Floor Back", by Jerome K. Jerome. When in play form, some years ago, this story went about America, the public acclaimed it as one of the greatest sermons ever delivered. Mr. Beaty has personally played the leading part in the play and is well qualified to bring an interesting interpretation of the story.

THE events of that fateful July day in 1775 when General Braddock marched against Fort Duquesne—the tragic sequel of which was to have such a far-reaching effect upon the American colonies—form the great, central, historical fact of the story. It is not in recounting history, however—albeit the author is faithful and accurate—but in the fashioning of a thrilling and satisfying romance that Mr. Pendexter has done his best work.

WHAT DR. CALDWELL LEARNED IN 47 YEARS PRACTICE

A physician watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the system and is not habit forming. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for anybody's system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly.

Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to the nearest druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

Pathetic Faithfulness

A setter dog that refused to leave a canine pal in death caused motorists at Beaumont, Texas, to send a hurry call to police headquarters. The dog was sitting beside the body of his stricken comrade in the center of the highway, defying drivers to run him down as they had the other dog. One automobile had been thrown into the ditch to avoid hitting the setter. It was not until the dead dog had been moved to the side of the road that the other permitted traffic to move normally.

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia! When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should invoke its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescription product physicians endorse for general use; the name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her So Much

Kingston, Mo.—"I have not taken anything but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for 18 months and I cannot praise it enough. I weighed about 100 pounds and was not able to do any kind of work. My housework was done by my mother and my out-of-doors work was not done. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and now I am well and strong and feel fine. I got my sister-in-law to take it after her last baby came and she is stronger now. I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. HATTIE V. EASTON, R. 1, Kingston, Missouri.

The Return of Anthony Trent

by
Wyndham Martyn

WNU Service

"It would take more than one of your hints to move Anthony Trent. I wish Heaven would give you the sense to recognize the people I like to see and those who bore me. Anthony Trent's by way of being a celebrity. Send him in."

"I've persuaded him to see you," said the secretary to the visitor.

"Yes, I know. I overheard you," Trent smiled.

Mr. Hill wrung Anthony Trent's hand warmly.

"What has dragged you from Europe's gilded salons?" he demanded.

"Business mainly, and a desire to know whether what you told me in London holds good in Washington."

Hill was a shrewd man and one accustomed to believing that he was a good judge of human motives. Yet this keen-faced visitor had puzzled him for years. Mr. Hill had hesitation in classifying him. He only knew that he liked him and thought under some circumstances he might fear Anthony Trent.

"Sit down," he said cordially, "and tell me what's on your mind."

"Do you remember what you said to me in London?"

"I asked you to lunch, I think, and naturally talked about men and things. One doesn't have to carry luncheon conversation as mental baggage."

"I expected you to fence," said Trent smiling. "I'll recall it. You may have forgotten that it was I who found that William, prince of Misselbach, was hiding in a certain Croatian castle although he had been buried with all the pomp due to his rank."

"Certainly I remember it," said the ex-ambassador warmly. "It was a very useful piece of information for us and we were able to discount the lies that Count Michael Temesvar was telling us. Why it was one of the most extraordinary feats I ever heard of. It was invaluable to the Allies." He looked at Trent keenly. "Tell me, is your life made up of these amazing doings? I've been hearing a lot about your capturing a pirate ship and sailing her over dry land into Guggensohn's old home."

Trent ignored Deal Beach.

"In London," he said, "you made a sort of veiled promise to me."

"Are you sure?" Hill retorted. "I am not noted for veiling things."

"I am sure, and you did veil it in this instance. You said that our government had no such way of repaying those of her citizens as rendered her special and meritorious service. Your very words, Mr. Hill. You said if I had been English I might have had my name in the 'Birthday Honor List.' You likened me to a 'mute inglorious Milton' and then made a most extraordinary statement."

"Did I?" Mr. Hill queried. "I was a diplomat then new enough at the game to believe in esoteric utterances. Just what do you remember me to have said?"

"That if ever I got into a tight place I should have something to trade with. Have you forgotten?"

"No," said the cabinet officer, "I remember the whole thing very vividly. That still goes. What tight place are you in?" Was he at last to learn something more definite about this amazing Anthony Trent than the mere hypothesis he held that the man had some secret manner of life? Mr. Hill had known Trent slightly for ten years. He remembered one of the editors of a magazine he had owned being enthusiastic concerning the detective stories written by a young Dartmouth athlete named Anthony Trent. The series after a year or so was discontinued. Hill learned that the former writer had inherited a fortune from an Australian uncle and wrote no more for gain. Then Trent had turned up in England, as an intimate friend of an aristocratic and exclusive family, causing much heart-burning among some of his own fellow countrymen who were denied the privilege.

The ambassador who had observed Trent closely in London had come to the conclusion that he was always on guard. It seemed as though his muscles were tensed as if for a struggle and his mind singularly alert as though danger were near. Mr. Hill had several times asked himself why a young American with money and friends need adopt this attitude. He hoped that he was about to learn the reason.

"None," said Trent. "I've come to ask you to help a friend."

Mr. Hill was conscious of disappointment.

"What's the nature of the trouble?"

"As you were in London in 1915 you know all about the secret visit of a certain royal highness who came over here to hasten our entrance into the big scrap."

"Now how the devil did you know that?" Hill exclaimed. The visit had been kept unknown for political reasons.

"I also know," Trent went on, "that the wonderful diamond given the prince by the maharajah of Lepitali when they shot tigers together was stolen from him in Washington and has not been recovered."

"I don't see how that could have leaked out," said Mr. Hill, "but you are quite right. The well-known crooks were rounded up and either locked up or else sent out of the District of Columbia. Washington was thought to be as safe as, let us say, Carmel-by-the-Sea, and yet the jewel was taken. It was a blot on our secret service."

"Is it known who took it?"

"They know the woman but they have lost her as well as the stone."

"The woman may be lost," Trent remarked, "but as to the diamond—I think you exaggerate." He tossed the little leathern bag on the other's knee. "I'm hoping it's going to bring me good luck."

Mr. Hill stared at it, fascinated.

"Where did you get it from?" he demanded.

"Not in Washington or from his royal highness. You can consider it taken in a way not usual but hardly illegal."

"Why bring it here? You must know a large reward was offered for it?"

"That part of it doesn't interest me. I brought it here because I want to make a trade with you."

"You are acting for your friend?"

"I am. I'll return this diamond, cancel the reward, if you'll have the warrants which are out against the woman who took this quashed. I'll turn over the Nizam's diamond if I have your official word that she is to be free from police interference in future."

Mr. Hill was still staring at the gem. He had never seen so large a diamond at close range. He saw himself at a cabinet meeting tossing the gorgeous thing on the table with some such remark as, "The prince's bauble. gentlemen!"

"You'd Better Keep It," Said Trent.

"In other words," he said slowly "you want us to give this expert the opportunity to go on working with the pleasing knowledge that the police won't interfere."

"Nothing of the sort," Trent corrected. "I'm not fool enough to expect a bargain of that kind. I merely want your assurance that the warrants now in force will be quashed. If she does anything in future to bring herself within reach of the law she is prepared to suffer for it. I may as well tell you she never will do anything crooked."

"You must have supreme confidence in her."

"You couldn't have expressed it better. I have."

"I must remind you that your confidence may be dictated by some purely personal liking which has nothing to commend itself to me. You must not expect me to be swayed by sentiment. How can I assure myself or my colleagues that your impressions of her are not false?" Mr. Hill smiled at the younger man kindly. "Don't be offended when I say that the police considered her at the time of the loss of this diamond one of the cleverest women working outside the law. She perhaps set out to persuade you she was deeply wronged. She may have campaigned to get your sympathy. She was said to have been very beautiful. Think over what men have done in the past for lovely women and then blame me if you can for doubting her repentance."

"I can't blame you," Trent said slowly. "It seems a trait of human nature to try and keep people down rather than to help them. What do you know about her, Mr. Hill?"

"I am told she is an aristocrat talking a dozen languages and used to all the ways of high society. She is said to dress beautifully and talk with a slight foreign accent. There was something unforgettable about her. I think it was her eyes. What color are her eyes?"

"A deep brown, almost black," said Anthony Trent promptly.

"Trent," said Hill smiling, "they're as green as jade and you know it."

"Few people see color in the same way," Trent reminded him.

"But few confound green and brown. Be frank with me. Why should I believe that the 'Countess'—I think that is what the police call her—wants to go straight?"

Anthony Trent's face grew sterner. There was a curiously dominating personality about the man, Mr. Hill admitted.

"Heaven may rejoice over the salvation of a sinner," he said, "but the world evidently does not. I'll prove what I say. Yesterday afternoon I saw her. She had no prospect ahead but drudgery, so I tempted her with relative luxury. I told her I would have that diamond there cut in half and give her a hundred thousand dollars for her share of it. I begged her to take it. I reminded her of the life woman-convicts lead in our barbarous prisons. She turned the opportunity down cold. I tell you if ever the devil was watching for a soul there was his chance. Literally she wouldn't hear of it. Her one idea is to make reparation."

"Was it fair to tempt her?" Hill asked.

"I can never fully explain to you just why I did it. One of the reasons was I wanted to assure myself that what I believed was true. I don't think I ever suffered more than when I was trying to shake her resolve." There was a new tenderness in his voice which Mr. Hill did not miss. "I don't think I've ever felt prouder than when she turned my proposition down and thought me a renegade."

"You must take an uncommon interest in this brown-eyed lady," the former ambassador said slowly.

"I do," Trent admitted, "that's why I'm here."

"I might point out," said the other, "that you have put your head in the mouth of a lion perfectly able to snap it off close to the collarbone if he chooses. It's true you have the diamond in your pocket for the moment, but what's to hinder me from ringing a bell and having you and it seized?"

"If you observe," said Anthony Trent, "you will see I am occupying a position of strategical advantage." He was sitting in a leathern armchair by the side of an open fire in which some oak logs were burning. "Hammer blows may not hurt diamonds but heat does. I have only to drop this into the flames and the Nizam's gem will never sparkle again. Carbon to carbon. It would distress me very much to have to do this, Mr. Hill."

"You are resourceful," the other admitted. After all, it was not likely that the man who had outwitted Michael Temesvar would be caught napping.

"I've got to be," Trent conceded. "What is the answer?"

"I don't want the diamond destroyed. I hate wanton waste. If I can I'd like to help you. You gave your government very important information during a period of unrest after the war. Some consideration is due to you. If I can arrange the matter that is the factor upon which I shall count. But remember this, Anthony Trent. You are using up your credit to pay the debts of some one else. I ask you is it worth while?"

"It is," said Trent quickly.

"When do you leave Washington?"

"As soon as I get your answer. I'm hoping to go at noon tomorrow."

"All right. Call me up here tonight between twelve and half past. I'll give you my private telephone number. What's this?" he demanded, as Trent thrust the little chamois leather bag into his hands.

"You'd better keep it," said Trent.

"Aren't you inclined to be overconfident?" Mr. Hill demanded. "You can't put it in the fire now."

Science Notes Changes in Position of Pole

Although the inhabitants of the earth are not perceptibly affected by the wandering motion of the North pole, yet it is a phenomenon of increasing interest to scientists, particularly astronomers.

This motion, which is suggestive of the "wobbling" of a top, is extremely slight when the vast size of the earth is taken in account. For about 30 years the North pole has never, it is claimed, been more than 35 feet away from the place it should occupy if the earth's axis of revolution never varied in direction. The amount of variation has been learned by the International Geodetic association through observations and four observing stations, all close to the thirty-ninth degree of North latitude, and all within 500 feet of the same parallel. These are at Midzusawa, Japan; Carloforte, Sardinia; Gaithersburg, Md., and Ukiah, Calif. Precisely similar observations with exactly the same kind of zenith telescopes are made at each station on carefully selected stars. In this way, any change in the direction of the pole reveals itself by a shift of the stars.

The Interruption

Ruth Elder, the daring airwoman, is the heroine of a little story.

It was at a dinner party in Birmingham, and an aged anti-feminist banker was laying down the law about woman's place.

"Woman's place is the home," he said. "That is all she's fit for. Women have never produced a Shakespeare or a Homer, an Edison or Ford, a Raphael or Michelangelo or Lincoln or—"

But here Miss Elder interrupted. "Dear me!" she said. "I thought women produced them all."

Forget last year's jelly failures This year you have PEXEL always this never this

PEXEL jells all fruits. Requires less boiling. Obtains more jelly. Does not change the most delicate flavor or color of any fruit

EVEN if you've had a dozen failures—or if you never made jelly before—you can make jellies successfully with Pexel. Just add it to fruit juice and bring to full boil. Then add sugar. Bring to vigorous boil once more. Take kettle from range. Skim. Pour into glasses. That's all—it will be jelled as soon as it is cool.

When you use Pexel, its price —30c—is repaid from one to three times. Time and fuel are saved. You make more jelly because fruit juice, sugar and flavor are not wasted by prolonged boiling.

Pexel is a 100% pure-fruit product. It is absolutely colorless, tasteless, odorless. It is a powder, not a liquid. Keeps indefinitely. Just as effective in any season with bottled juices or unsweetened canned fruits.

Get Pexel at your grocer's. Only 30c. Recipe booklet with easy-to-follow directions in every package. The Pexel Company, Chicago, Ill.

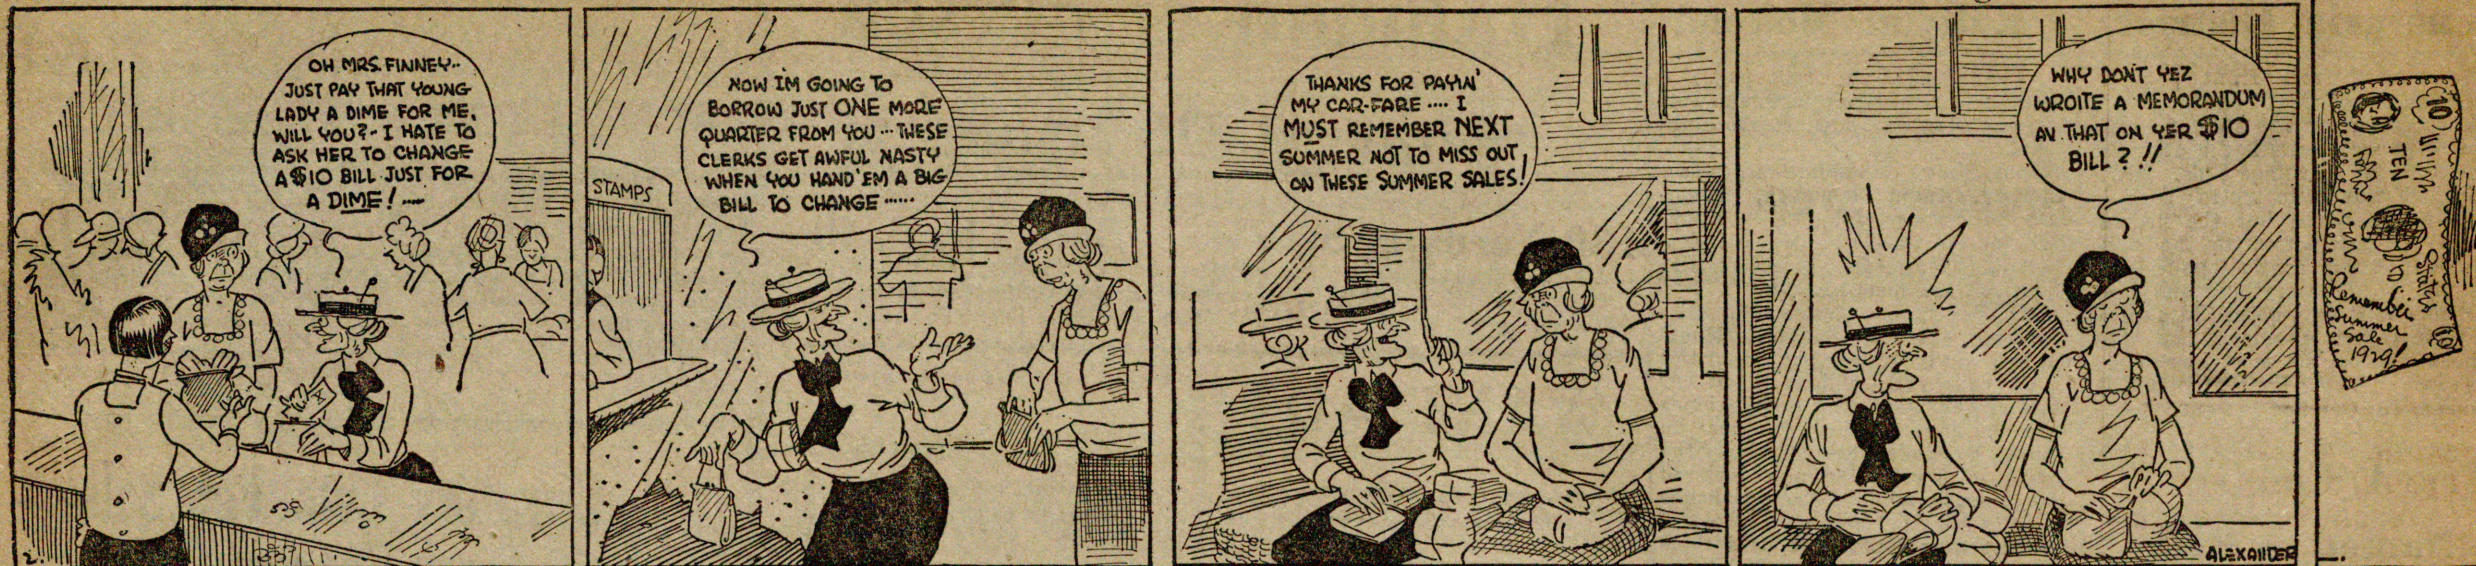

Here are a few examples of how much jelly Pexel makes:

- 4½ cups strawberry juice, Pexel, 8 cups sugar make 11 glasses of jelly.
- 4½ cups raspberry juice, Pexel, 8 cups sugar make 11 glasses of jelly.
- 6 cups currant juice, Pexel, 10 cups sugar make 14 glasses of jelly.
- 4½ cups grape juice, Pexel, 7 cups sugar make 10 glasses of jelly.

The reason for the present condition of public affairs is the desire of the public to let things slide. It is too much trouble to try to seek a remedy. No doubt but the present system is satisfactory to the ward heaters and the crooked politicians. We give them everything and keep nothing for those who are in earnest in their efforts for laws that they believe will be the most beneficial.

CHAS. L. SYLVESTER,

Mrs. A. Cooper Named as Red Cross Chairman

Mrs. Adelle Cooper has been appointed chairman for the Red Cross at Orland Park. The past week she attended the luncheon at the Blackstone Hotel and enjoyed it very much. She heard Dr. Thomas Green, director of the speaking service of the American Red Cross who is devoting his time to the Red Cross work speak on the many things the organization has done for this country and others. He said "That in 365 days the Red Cross had assisted in 99 disasters besides the work they are doing in training nurses so that in about 48 hours notice 10,000 of these nurses would be ready to answer if called. There are now about 30,000 trained nurses. There are now 4,000,000 members of the Red Cross and this year they want to make it 5,000,000."

A Red Cross canvass will be made soon in Orland Park and Mrs. Cooper would be greatly pleased if every one would be ready with their subscriptions and she would like to see a Red Cross flag in every home window. For such a good cause Orland ought to raise a large amount.

Mrs. Cooper also attended the 57th annual meeting of the American Public Health Association at the hotel Stevens on October 16th which was very interesting. There were many attractive booths and everything pointed out how essential it is to eat the correct foods, fresh air, cleanliness, pure milk, pure water, all of which are very important to growing children in building strong minds and bodies.

TINLEY PARK

Arthur DeVol and family attended a surprise birthday party given in honor of Mrs. DeVol at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Yunker Tuesday evening, October 9th. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Campbell and daughter, Mrs. J. L. Chaney, and daughter, Mrs. Norman Wyman and sons, Mrs. L. Wragg and Horace Wragg of Chicago Lawn, Misses Betty Kirby and Florence Schrank of Blue Island.

Potatoe salad, sandwiches, olives, cake and hot chocolate was served. Many beautiful gifts were received and a most pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

The new Tinley Park bakery opened last Saturday and did very good business. They are offering weekly specials. Watch for them in the ads they are running in this paper.

Friends of Mayor Wm. Funk and Patsy Koehler say they are considering taking passage on the new dirigible Graf Zeppelin on its return trip to Germany to hunt ducks in the old Fatherland.

Don't forget the big Lions Club Halloween and Harvest Festival at the Saenger hall, October 27.

Miss Josephine Schmiedeknecht has returned from a European trip.

Waiter Mesenbrink snipped and fell at school Tuesday, injuring the shoulder blade.

The R. N. A. holds a social meeting Tuesday October 23.

A number of friends assisted Mrs. Catherine Fulton in celebrating her birthday Wednesday. Bunco was the chief diversion. A dainty luncheon was served.

The football game Sunday was a real exciting one with a score of 0 to 0.

Mrs. Fred Schmiedeknecht entertained the new Happy-Go-Lucky bunco club last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Schaefer have been visiting with the Goessel family at Barron Lake, Niles, Mich.

The local school is planning for a Halloween social.

Mrs. Emerson Comes To Joliet Sat. Oct. 27

Mrs. Louis Emerson, wife of the Republican candidate for Governor, will be present at a Republican women's Political Tea to be held at the Joliet Chamber of Commerce on Saturday afternoon, October 27. Mrs. Bertha Baur of the Republican National Committee will also be present. All the women of Will County are invited to attend. The meeting is to start at two o'clock.

New Lenox Rep. Women Hold Political Tea

A Republican Women's Political Tea was held at the Grange hall in New Lenox Thursday afternoon. Mrs. A. H. Krusemark and other speakers were on the program. About sixty women were present.

He made a strong appeal to the voters of Mokena to support the state ticket.

John Haley, candidate for states attorney, Anton Nemanich, candidate for coroner, John Zelko, candidate for circuit clerk, Bernard Fay, candidate for county auditor, also addressed the meeting.

Mr. Fay took a shot at the Republicans when he said that Mokena had always given big majorities to the county Republican ticket but that Mokena's Republican friends have not done anything for her in return. He called attention to the paving of Wolf Road and declared that if the Republican county officials at Joliet had the interest of Mokena at heart they could have used their influence with the state officials to have Wolf Road thru Mokena to the Lincoln highway.

Considerable Democratic sentiment has sprung up and it would not be surprising if the Democrats polled a bigger vote on November 6th than they have for many years.

FRANKFORT

Frank J. Kohlhausen who has been engaged in the store business in Frankfort for over 33 years, is quitting the business and is selling out his stock by auction sale, auctioneer Jimmie McCun of Galesburg being in charge. He had charge of the Robert Stephen store goods sale three years. Frankfort now only has two stores.

No date has been set for the hearing of the case of Charles Baumann of Frankfort who was recently arrested by Federal Prohibition Agents when they raided his saloon and found some liquor. Only the preliminary hearing has been held. Mr. Baumann was released on a $1,000 cash bond.

Churches Organize

Last Saturday a meeting was held at Lemont at which the Chicago Southwest Suburban Parish was organized by pastors of Protestant churches at Lemont, Palos Park, Wells Corner, Tinley Park, Orland Park and Worth.

Following are the officials chosen: Director, Rev. Paul T. Sanders, pastor Orland Park, Worth United Parish. Secretary-Treasurer, Rev. Kennedy of Palos Park and Chicago Ridge Presbyterian church.

Athletic Director, Rev. Coates, Lemont M. E. church.

Director of Dramatics for parish, Rev. Ohlert, Wells Corner Congregational church.

Director of Religious Education, Rev. Kennedy.

The purpose of the organization is for more united church work and activities. It is felt that by a number of churches uniting in their efforts more can be accomplished than by struggling individual churches.

The parish plan was tried out last year and proved a big success. This fall and winter special attention is to be given to dramatics and work with the boys and girls and young folks of the parish. A part time lady worker has been secured in Miss Grace Kendrick of the Northwestern University who will direct the work of the girls clubs. Sunday school activities, etc. Guy Jones of Chicago has been assigned as assistant to Rev. Sanders in his work at Worth and Orland Park. It is planned to get the Oak Forest and Midlothian M. E. churches into the parish also. An invitation has also been extended to the Mokena M. E. church to participate in this movement. The pastors are much enthused with the parish plan and expect to realize big things as a result of this church organization.
